According to Treaty Stipulations with the Seminoles and M Grammont the late emigrants were to be provided with suitable buildings for dwelling purposes and many of our people emigrated from Florida built them their own houses and have been compensated by an allowance being made to defray them the cost of erecting them but by some [illegible] there yet remaining many who have not as yet been compensated for the [illegible] and provided and are still entitled to the pay by the provisions of the Treaty thereby [illegible] in the Creek Country at their own expence these are entitled to the rates of allowance that of all those now remaining unprovided for ask that there respective sums due each be paid over to them and they be permitted to use the money in the construction and building of Houses in their New Country to which front this all intend moving as early as possible by doing so they can better provide themselves here the means to employ help in their construction. I have given instructions on this subject to all to have as early and as possible, Mares of my People being out of money. We are able to hold these Horses ourselves and are ready to do so just so as we can get off from here which will be ere long and by hunting the money we can provide ourselves with subsistance and the means actually necessary to enable us to carry on the building and make our people comfortable and prevent suffering or distress during the meantime we hope you will give your earliest attention to this and the importance that is deserving. Many of our People have been to the expence in building and other improvements made in the Creek Country and in abandoning of these improvements [illegible] by us we wish to know from you if we will be allowed the right of selling these improvements by you we want to be given very much to understand, we shall fully [illegible] you have done to communicate to us after receiving the We hope [illegible] to hear of your being well and are pleased to inform you that we are [illegible] enjoying good health.
